
Vision numeric opens a new subsidiary in Shanghai, China

October 2005

October will be remembered here at Vision numeric as the month we opened a new subsidiary in China. October 17th, our colleague and friend David Han landed in China to open our first office in Shanghai.

Located in the heart of this booming city, this new subsidiary will help promote Type3 solutions in China and on the Asian continent in general. M. Han and his team will be responsible for developing the Type3 solutions brand name, image and sales on the Asian continent.

With an established network of customers in China and the many trade and business shows Vision numeric representatives attended in the past few years, M. Han is sure to rapidly boost Type3 solutions brand awareness.

We are confident this new and growing subsidiary will lead to great new business and ventures in the near future. We wish David Han and his young team good luck and see you soon in Shanghai!

David Han and his colleagues for his good bye party in Vision numeric French Headquarters. Oct. 2005

For more information about Type3 solutions in China, please visit www.type3.com/CN/home_cn/home_cn.php.

To reach M. David Han directly, please dial: 00862162819260 ext. 327.
