Meeting professionals from the wood industry

2006 is a year placed under the sign of customization. Professionals from the wood industry wish to transform their material into a personalized tool thanks to engraving, sculpting and decorating. This trend is rapidly growing along with demand and that goes for all industries. Whether it concerns your habitat or your work environment, the desire to be in a personalized space is very strong. Decoration and interior design work together with this trend.

Professionals from the wood industry integrate more and more this demand in their working methods and they naturally turn to Type3 solutions to create, engrave, sculpt and decorate wood. Many companies specialized in interior design, office furniture, furniture and object restoration as well as in sign visited our booth for more information.

The different signs exposed on our booth attracted many visitors; many of them were really interested in the sections you can see on the signs. These sections, the graphic part of our solutions and the drawing shortcuts attract these professionals, but the power and user-friendliness of the software are mainly what convince the most. Our solutions allow to answer the most versatile and complex customization demands. Pieces created are beautiful, they reach towards excellence, and this high quality level is what defines us.
